I. Qualitative Information and Financial Statements

1. Qualitative Information on Consolidated Operating Performance

1) Analysis of Operating Performance

During the year ended March 31, 2019 (from April 1, 2018 to March 31, 2019), the Japanese economy saw slower growth. Weakening global demand for IT products that began in early spring, coupled with trade tensions between the United States and China, caused global trade to contract. In Japan, as exports and industrial production fell, business sentiment, especially in the manufacturing sector, deteriorated significantly. In the nation's labor market, on the other hand, employment and wages continued to improve driven by labor shortages. Domestic demand and nonmanufacturing business conditions also remained solid. As domestic demand contrasted starkly with foreign demand, Japan's GDP growth rate was unstable, fluctuating between positive and negative territories.

In bond markets, yields on 10-year Japanese government bonds (JGBs) ranged between negative 0.10% and positive 0.15%. In July 2018, the Bank of Japan announced a change to its monetary policy, deciding to reduce its purchases of JGBs and allow 10-year JGB yields, which had been fixed at 0%, to move upward and downward. Upon this announcement, 10-year JGB yields rose to nearly 0.15% at one point. From October 2018, however, US interest rates started declining amid uncertainty over the outlook for the global economy, leading JGB yields to fall in tandem. Furthermore, in March 2019, when the US Federal Open Market Committee indicated that it would pause policy rate increases until the end of the year, 10-year JGB yields declined to almost negative 0.1%.

In foreign exchange markets, whereas the yen was traded at nearly \(\frac{\pmathbf{4}106}\) to the US dollar in April 2018, it weakened to above \(\frac{\pmathbf{4}114}\) in October 2018 owing to the stronger economy and higher interest rates in the United States. Subsequently, an increasingly uncertain economic outlook led to lower US interest rates, which caused the yen to strengthen to the \(\frac{\pmathbf{4}104}{\pmathbf{4}}\) range at one point in early 2019. However, once US monetary policy turned dovish thereafter, Japanese and US stock prices started to rise again, resulting in market participants' risk appetite gradually returning. As markets sold the low-interest-rate yen in that environment, the currency weakened to around \(\frac{\pmathbf{4}111}{\pmathbf{4}}\) against the US dollar at the end of March 2019.

Amid these circumstances, the Sony Financial Group sought to become the financial services group most highly trusted by customers. To this end, we undertook a variety of measures to maintain a sound financial base, reinforce and expand our product and service offerings in order to deliver high-value-added products and high-quality services to each of our customers, and enhance our internal control system.

Consolidated ordinary revenues increased 8.3% year on year, to ¥1,629.1 billion, owing to increases in ordinary revenues from all the businesses: life insurance, non-life insurance and banking businesses. Consolidated ordinary profit increased 40.4% year on year, to ¥93.8 billion, owing to increases in ordinary profit from all the above businesses. Profit attributable to owners of the parent was up 19.6% year on year, to ¥62.0 billion. Note that a ¥13.2 billion gain on disposal of fixed assets from a sale of the real estate held for investment in the life insurance business, which was recorded in extraordinary gains in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2018.

Operating results by business segment are as described below.

2) Forecast of Consolidated Financial Results for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2020

For the year ending March 31, 2020 (from April 1, 2019 to March 31, 2020), we expect growth to continue, with ongoing expansion in all businesses.

We forecast increases in ordinary revenues and ordinary profit, owing mainly to the impact of the life insurance business. Although we expect extraordinary gains to decline, we anticipate that profit attributable to owners of the parent will grow in tandem with ordinary profit.

Note: The effects of market fluctuations after April 1, 2019 have not been incorporated in the forecast.

The forecast of consolidated financial results for the year ending March 31, 2020 below remains unchanged from the forecast announced on April 26, 2019.

Profit attributable to owners of the parent	62.0	65.0	4.7
Net income per share (Yen)	142.69	149.42	_

Forecast by business segment is as follows.

<Life insurance business>

We expect ordinary revenues to increase from FY2018, due mainly to a steady rise in insurance premium revenues. We also expect ordinary profit to rise in line with growth in the policy amount in force, despite the increased provision of policy reserves stemming from a decrease in surrenders. Also, although we booked an impairment loss relating to available-for-sale securities in the general account in FY2018, no equivalent loss is included in our forecast for FY2019.

Ordinary revenues	1,464.3	1,520.5	3.8
Ordinary profit	78.2	84.2	7.7

<Non-life insurance business>

We expect ordinary revenues to increase from FY2018, in line with growth in net premiums written, primarily for automobile insurance. We expect ordinary profit will remain flat. We anticipate higher revenues from automobile insurance, and anticipate the impact of a temporary accumulation of policy reserves for a certain product in FY2018 will disappear. At the same time, however, we expect the provision for underwriting reserves to rise in line with an increase in the acquisition of fire insurance policies.

(Billions of yen)

Ordinary revenues	115.1	121.2	5.3
Ordinary profit	6.8	7.0	1.5

We expect ordinary revenues to rise year on year due to stable business growth stemming from the steady ongoing accumulation of mortgage loans and the strengthening of the foreign currency business. Although we anticipate a rise in gross operating profit in line with revenue growth, we expect ordinary profit to decrease year on year due to a rise in operating expenses.

2. Qualitative Information on Consolidated Financial Position

1) Assets, Liabilities and Net Assets

As of March 31, 2019, total assets amounted to ¥13,468.2 billion, up 8.6% from March 31, 2018. Among major components of assets, securities, mostly Japanese government bonds, amounted to ¥10,373.1 billion, up 8.3% from March 31, 2018. Loans came to ¥1,942.5 billion, up 8.8%.

Total liabilities were \pm 12,811.3 billion, up 8.8% from March 31, 2018. Major components of liabilities included policy reserves and others of \pm 9,479.0 billion, up 8.2%, and deposits totaled \pm 2,302.3 billion, up 6.6%.

Total net assets were ¥656.8 billion, up 5.0% from March 31, 2018. This included net unrealized gains on available-forsale securities, net of taxes, which decreased ¥5.1 billion, to ¥128.8 billion.

2) Cash Flows

Net cash provided by operating activities for the year ended March 31, 2019, was \(\frac{1}{2}\)802.9 billion, primarily due to income from insurance premiums in the life insurance business. The amount of net cash provided was down 16.8 billion (2.0%) year on year, mainly because of an increase in mortgage loans and other lending in the banking business.

Net cash used in investing activities was ¥659.8 billion, mainly because payments to acquire marketable securities exceeded proceeds from sale and redemption of securities in the life insurance and banking businesses. The amount of net cash used decreased ¥21.0 billion (3.1%), year on year because of an increase in proceeds from net increase in collateral for securities lending transactions in the life insurance business during the year under review compared with an increase in the previous fiscal year.

Net cash used in financing activities came to $26.6 billion because of payments for cash dividends. Net cash used in these activities was up $12.1 billion (83.8%) year on year, due to proceeds from issuance of bonds in the previous year.

As a result of the above factors and others, cash and cash equivalents at March 31, 2019, amounted to ¥509.5 billion, up ¥116.4 billion (29.6%) from March 31, 2018.

In line with our medium-term dividend policy, for FY2019 we expect to raise the dividend amount by \u2.5 per share compared with FY2018, to ¥65.0, taking into overall account such factors as the operating environment, growth in business scale, and higher profit based on economic value. We aim to continue steadily increasing dividends going forward.

Highlights of Operating Performance: Sony Life (Non-consolidated)

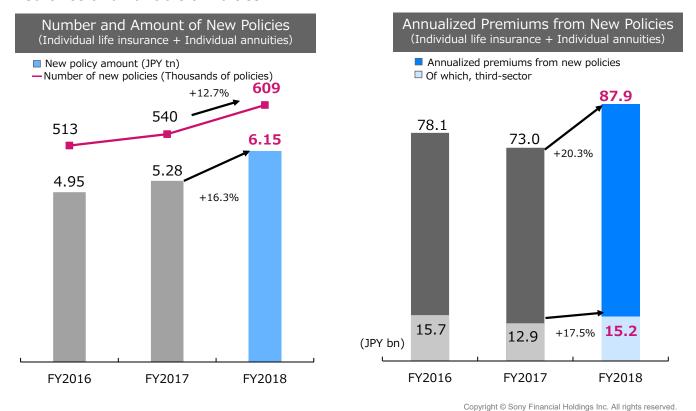

- ◆ Ordinary Revenues : Grew due to higher insurance premiums owning mainly to a steady rise in the policy amount in force.
- ◆ Ordinary Profit: increased year on year due to an increase in profit on higher policies in force, a recording of gains on sale of securities in the general account, a decline in provision of policy reserves for products with higher surrenders, and an improvement in net gains (losses) on derivative transactions to hedge market risks for available-for-sale securities in the general account, which more than offset the effect of an impairment loss relating to available-for-sale securities in the general account.

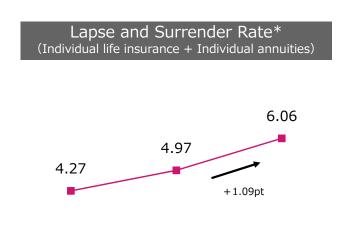

- ◆ New Policy Amount : Increased due to higher sales of family income insurance.
- ◆ Annualized Premiums from New Policies : Increased due to higher sales of term life insurance and variable annuities.

Operating Performance : Sony Life (Non-consolidated) (2)

◆ Lapse and Surrender Rate: Increased due to certain customers cancelling existing policies, taking out new policies such as family income insurance since premiums were revised in line with revisions of the standard mortality tables.

^{*}The lapse and surrender rate shows the ratio derived by dividing the amount of lapses and surrenders, not adjusted for policy amount decreases, increases, and reinstatements, by the policy amount in force at the beginning of the fiscal year.

Forecast of Consolidated Financial Results for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2020 (FY2019)

Forecast of Consolidated Financial Results for FY2019

Ordinary revenues, ordinary profit and profit attributable to owners of the parent are expected to increase

For FY2019, we expect stable business growth to continue in all the businesses

♦Life insurance business

We expect ordinary revenues to increase from FY2018, due mainly to a steady rise in insurance premium revenues. We also expect ordinary profit to rise in line with growth in the policy amount in force, despite the increased provision of policy reserves stemming from a decrease in surrenders. Also, although we booked an impairment loss relating to available-for-sale securities in the general account in FY2018, no equivalent loss is included in our forecast for FY2019.

♦Non-life insurance business

We expect ordinary revenues to increase from FY2018, in line with growth in net premiums written, primarily for automobile insurance. We expect ordinary profit will remain flat. We anticipate higher revenues from automobile insurance, and anticipate the impact of a temporary accumulation of policy reserves for a certain product in FY2018 will disappear. At the same time, however, we expect the provision for underwriting reserves to rise in line with an increase in the acquisition of fire insurance policies.

♦Banking business

We expect ordinary revenues to rise year on year due to stable business growth stemming from the steady ongoing accumulation of mortgage loans and the strengthening of the foreign currency business.

Although we anticipate a rise in gross operating profit in line with revenue growth, we expect ordinary profit to decrease year on year due to a rise in operating expenses rise.

Furthermore, management will determine specific dividend amounts for each year by taking into account a comprehensive range of factors surrounding the Group.
